Since 2017, our department has made it a requirement that all newly hired clinical pharmacists become board certified. The department reimburses board-certified pharmacists for the cost of the examination, and we started a robust program where a pharmacist must be board certified before they are formally recognized and promoted through the program."

RUSSEL J. ROBERTS, PHARMD, BCCCP, FCCM
Massachusetts General Hospital

"At our institution, health care providers round with pharmacists who have advanced training and board certification. Providers recognized the importance of having a pharmacist as part of the team and advocated with pharmacy leadership for more board-certified pharmacists to join the health care team."

VICKIE POWELL, BS, PHARMD, MS, FASHP
New York-Presbyterian Hospital

"At Premier Health, there was an existing process developed by nursing to reimburse certifications, so we were able to use their guidelines as a framework for pharmacy. Due to mirroring our nursing colleague’s certification policy, we were able to implement a process in pharmacy with no formal challenges or issues."

KEVIN BROOKS, RPH, MBA, FACHE
Miami Valley Hospitals

"New York Presbyterian supports our pharmacists in pursuit of Board Certification by providing both educational and monetary support for the examination. Our senior leadership across disciplines are in full support of board certification and hiring more board-certified pharmacists."

PATRICE DUPART, PHARMD, MSHCM, BCPS
New York-Presbyterian Hospital

More employer information at www.bpsweb.org/bps-employer-toolkit/